Update: August Flood Event#2

Okaloosa Prepares for Heavy Rain, Possible Flooding Remember: “Turn Around, Don’t Drown”

Okaloosa County, Fla. – Sand and bags are available at Okaloosa Public Works Departments, in Fort Walton Beach and Crestview. Additional bags will be delivered early tomorrow morning in the south location.

Okaloosa County Department of Public Safety is monitoring the National Weather Service for potential rain and possible flooding. Residents are encouraged to monitor local radio and television stations for updates. Additionally, road closures are kept updated on Okaloosa’s home page at www.okaloosaf.com.

Heavy rains are expected beginning on Tuesday and continuing through Sunday, August 14. For more information, contact the 311 Citizens Information Line. Follow Okaloosa County on Facebook, @Okaloosa Public Safety Emergency Management, and Twitter @OKALOOSAEOC.

Remember residents can sign up for Alert Okaloosa and/or download the free Ready Okaloosa App for warnings and up-to-date information. Visit <http://www.co.okaloosa.fl.us/ps/home>, for more information .
