Okaloosa County staff and the Okaloosa Citizens Alliance have been working on a joint project reviewing the list of county owned property in order to correct any errors, identify excess property and sell or vacate excess property. The list has been compiled and is online for viewing by interested parties. Surplus properties are in red and contact information is provided, as well. “Getting unused surplus county-owned real estate back on the tax rolls is a significant benefit to the taxpayers. Citizens’ involvement in governing helped to achieve this revenue generating initiative. OCA appreciates the County officials in allowing us to collaborate on this initiative,” stated OCA President Michael Barnes.

“We really appreciate the volunteer efforts of the Okaloosa Citizens Alliance (OCA) on this project. It has been a high priority issue for them and the members of OCA have put in many hours assisting staff. Together we have created a property database that will enhance the way Okaloosa County government does business,” said Chairman Don Amunds, county commissioner. For more information, contact the Purchasing Department at 850-689-6960 or Citizens Information Line, 311.
