Okaloosa Co. Names Dino Villani Interim Airports Director

Okaloosa County Public Safety Director Dino Villani will serve as the interim director of the Airports until a replacement is hired. Airports Director Greg Donovan is leaving Okaloosa to be the airport director at Pensacola International Airport in early March. Due to County Administrator Jim Curry's impending retirement, the hiring of a new airports director will be a priority for the new county administrator.

"We will miss Greg and appreciate all the hard work and great strides we have made at all three airports during his time here," stated Chairman Don Amunds. "We wish him well and appreciate Mr. Villani stepping in to assist in his absence."

"I look forward to serving the county in this new aspect of county government and will divide my time between Public Safety and the Airports," stated Public Safety Director Dino Villani. "Both the Airports and Public Safety have competent, motivated and experienced employees that can provide the support to meet operational demands during this interim period," added Villani.

"We're fortunate to have well seasoned staff at both the Airports & Public Safety Department, so Dino can provide the executive leadership necessary during this interim period," stated County Administrator Jim Curry.
