Beach Accesses Four and Five to Open on Independence Day

Okaloosa Island – Just in time to celebrate Independence Day on the Gulf, Okaloosa County Officials are pleased to announced the opening of beach accesses four and five on Okaloosa Island at 9 A.M. Wednesday morning.

The county outfitted the access ways with fully functioning restroom facilities and freshly paved asphalt parking lots.

“We are so pleased to have completed two of the three access ways for our local residents as well as tourists. This will make celebrating our nation’s birthday on the beach a little more convenient,” said Commissioner Carolyn Ketchel, “We are especially happy that these beach access ways have been made available to our public by tourist development dollars. As a result of bed tax dollars collected from tourists visiting our area, not a dime of local taxpayer money was used to fund this project.”
