County Commissioner Inducted into Women's Hall of Fame

Okaloosa County – The Okaloosa County Commission on the Status of Women honored Commissioner Carolyn Ketchel Monday night when they placed her in their Hall of Fame as the 2018 Contemporary inductee.

During the course of the ceremony, the Commissioner's many works of service, including her work with the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Junior League and her establishment of the Food Pantry on behalf of Catholic Charities.

"To be added to the Okaloosa Hall of Fame means so much to me," said Commissioner Ketchel, "'tonight you have shown me great love and honor. I do not feel worthy when I see the names honored along with me. My service is based on my faith in Jesus Christ and his words that we are to love one another and treat each other as we wish to be treated."

The Okaloosa County Commission on the Status of Women was established in 1995 by a proclamation by the Okaloosa County Board of County Commissioners. Since then, it has honored women who have contributed to Okaloosa County in the fields of business, humanitarianism, the military and other categories.
